Criminal Justice Course

Thomson Custom Solutions can help you create your perfect course materials. Draw from Thomson's extensive Criminal Justice offerings to create a text that is tailor-fit to the way you teach.

Custom Options for Criminal Justice:

New Forensics Chapter:

What every CJ student wants to know about Forensics! With the popularity of shows like CSI, we are introducing a NEW chapter on Forensic Chemistry that can be added to a number of our popular Criminal Justice texts at no additional cost.

Author Henry Fradella:

"I reviewed the forensics chapter and I loved it! I also showed it to a few other people I know who teach forensics, and everyone gave it a thumbs-up! We think it would be great to see such a chapter in some CJ books. If students came to upper-division forensics classes already having the kind of exposure that chapter provides, we'd be thrilled!"

Teaching an Online Course?

Design a text for Distance Learning students by including a fifty-page manual on How to Succeed in an On-Line Course to your existing Thomson text at no additional charge. Thomson understands how hard it is for students to succeed in the online environment and knows that empowering them with the proper tools will make a difference.

The Thomson State-Authoring Program for Criminal Justice:

We invite you to join the Thomson State Authoring Program for Criminal Justice - a program designed to make it easy for faculty to develop state-specific course materials. Select state-neutral content from our menu and add your state-specific material. Thomson then publishes your text, and students can purchase your text in the bookstore stand-alone or shrink-wrapped with other Thomson materials. The primary goal of this program is to make it easy for you to develop course materials. If other faculty in your state wish to purchase your text, we will make it available for sale.
